

George Washington

How many things can you name that are named after George Washington?

A large rectangular area with horizontal lines for writing, resembling a notebook page. The left edge features a spiral binding with ten circular holes.